

Piggy & Bunny

and the Stay-At-Home Plan

For the littlest bunnies
and piggies in my life:
Millie & Sophie
Kyrié & Emmanuelle
& Ash

Piggy and Bunny are the best of friends, even in uncertain times. They show kids how to be there for each other and find fun at a time when their parents are worried and everyone is staying home.

Written and illustrated by a pediatric resident doctor from Minneapolis, Minnesota to comfort her nieces during the COVID-19 (coronavirus) pandemic, she now hopes to share Piggy and Bunny with a broader community.

In the next city over
from me and from you
live Piggy and Bunny.

They're the best of friends, too.

Piggy loves dancing
with all of her heart.

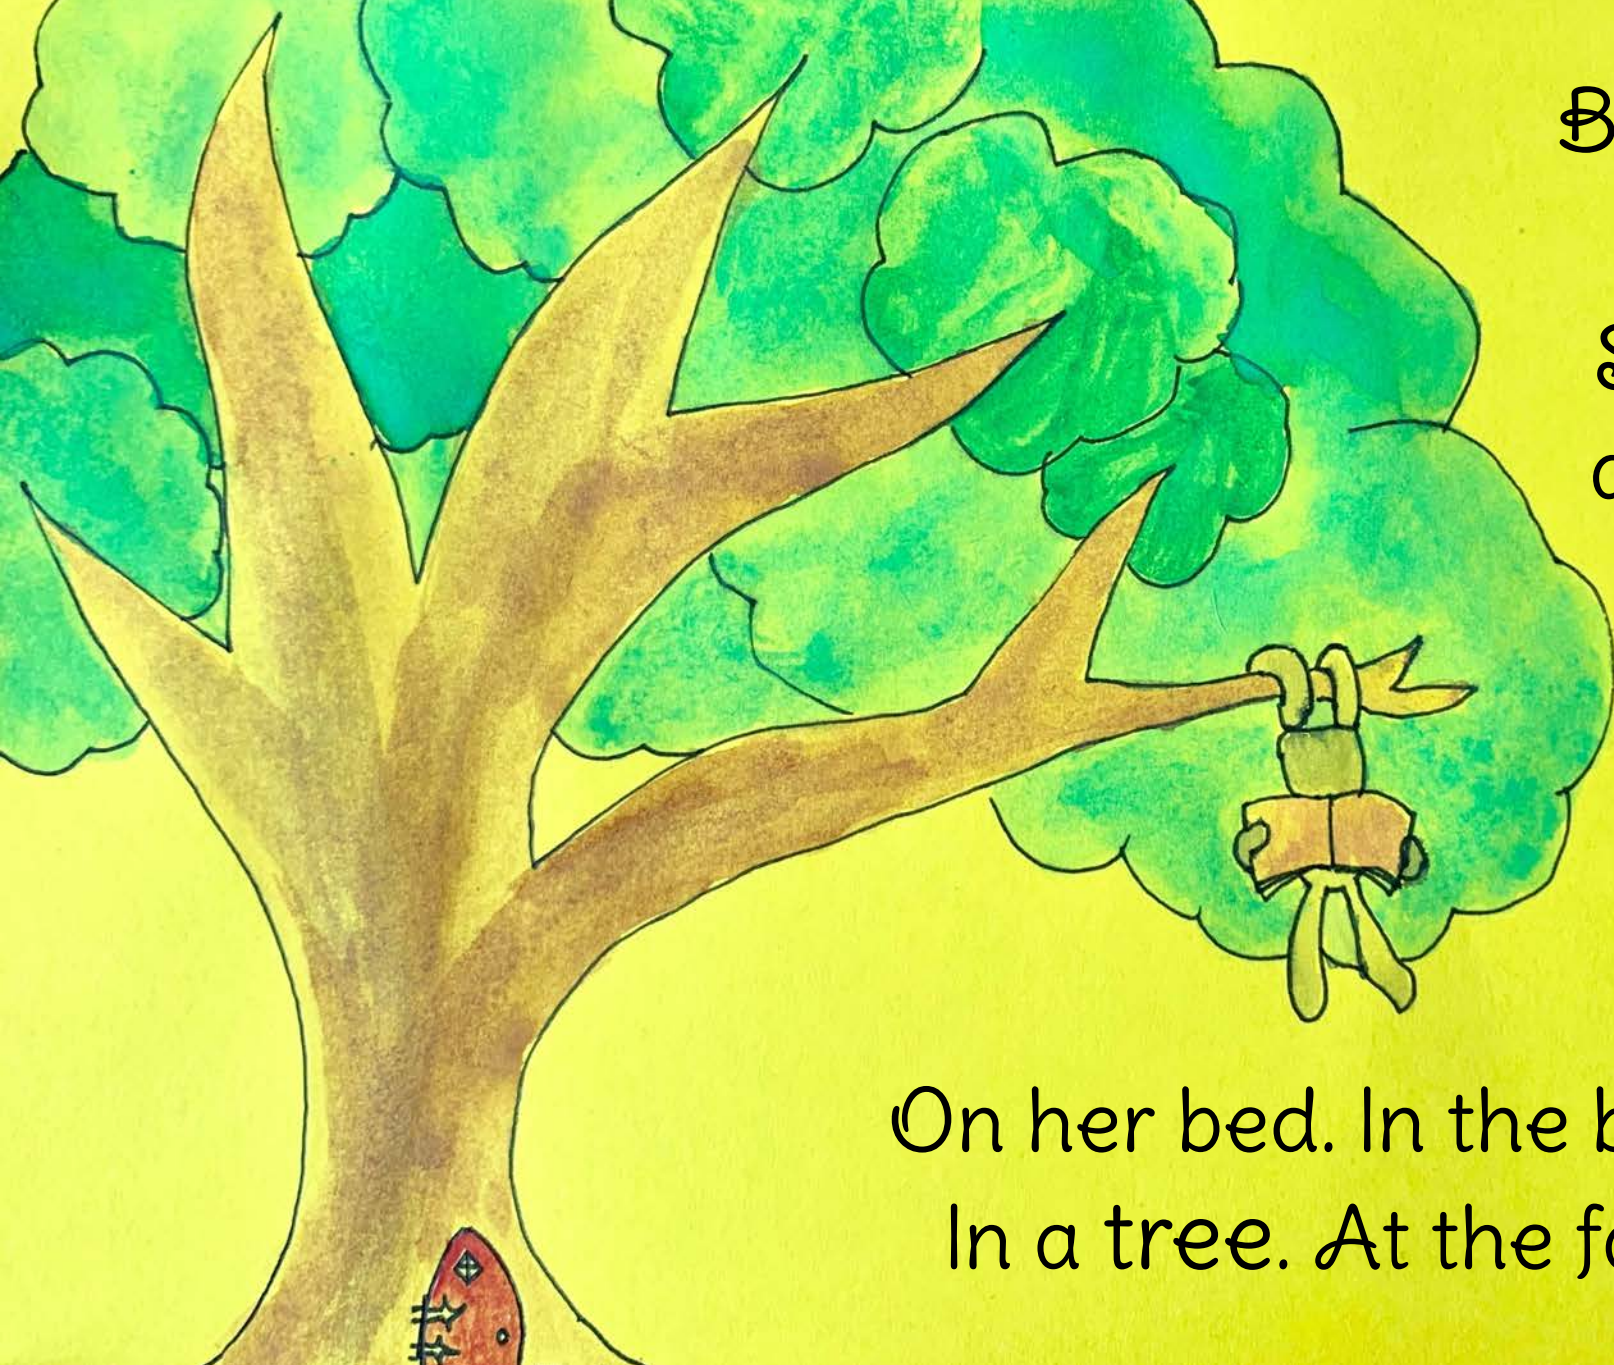

She loves hip hop

and jazz

and ballet (for a start!)

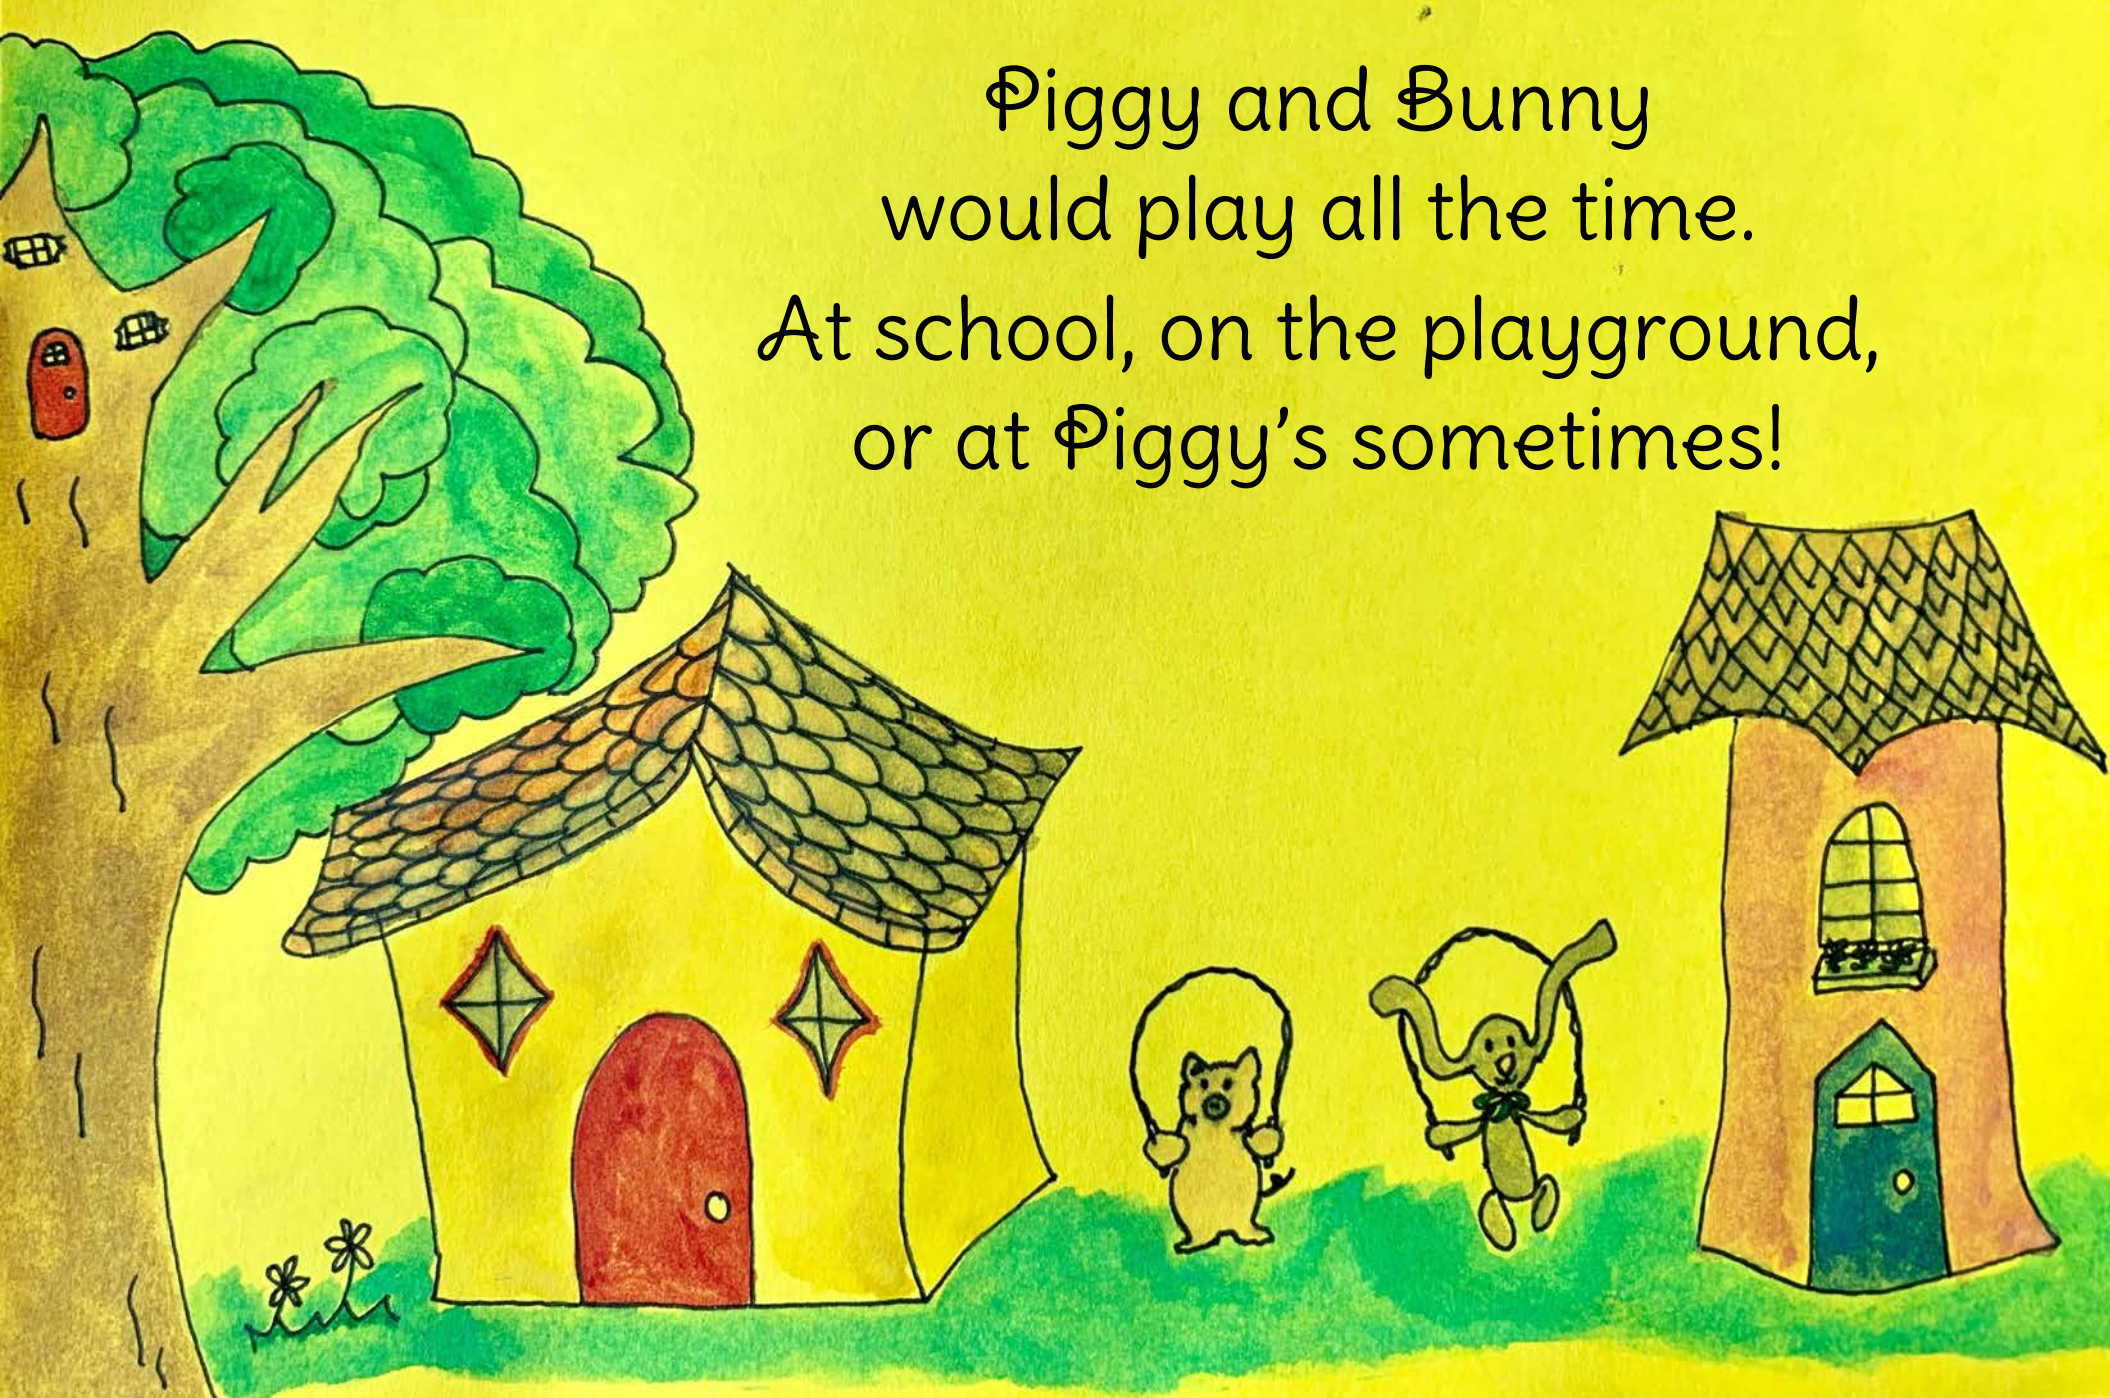

Bunny loves
reading.
She'll read
anywhere!

On her bed. In the bath.
In a tree. At the fair!

Piggy and Bunny
would play all the time.
At school, on the playground,
or at Piggy's sometimes!

But something is different
and now kids are all home.

Daddy Bunny
seems worried.

Mama Pig's
on her phone.

Bunny doesn't like
different.

Brother Bunnies get old.

And it's tiring to stay home
and do what you're told!

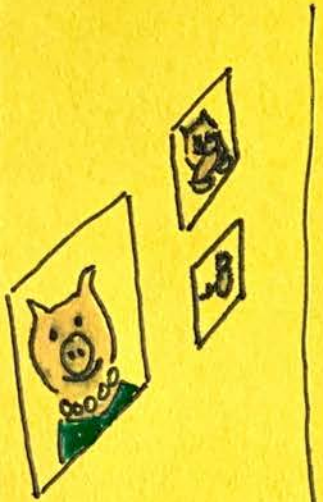

But poor Piggy has no one
to play with at all!

Brothers
can be rude,
but it's fun
to play ball.

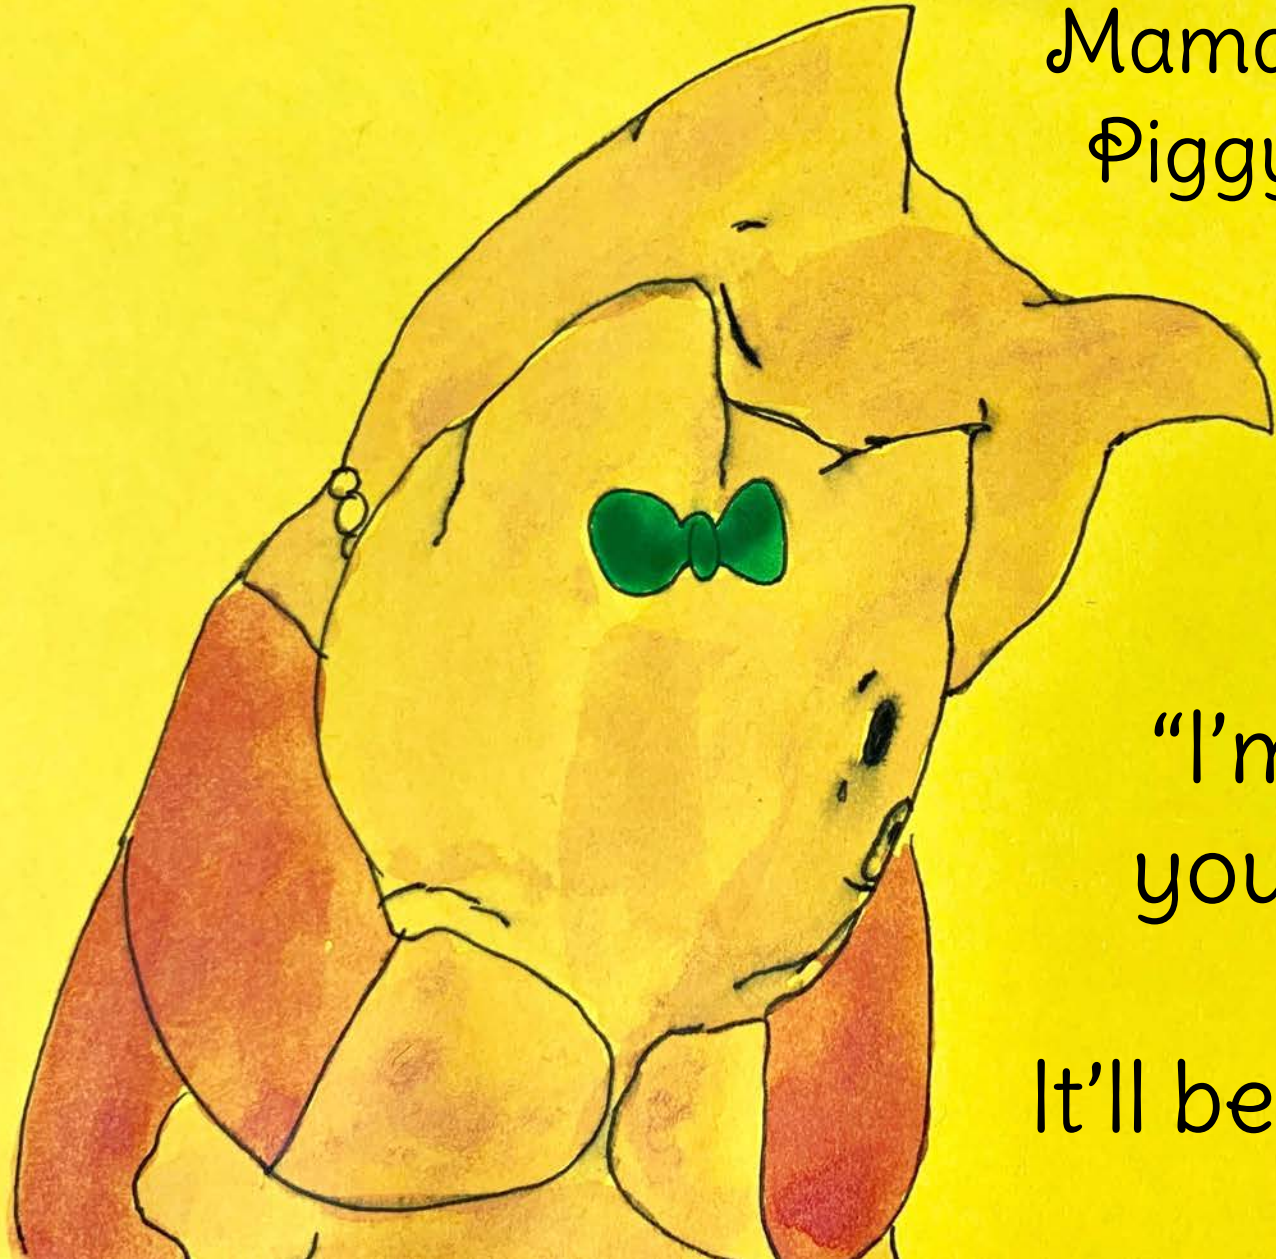

One day Piggy's mama
found Piggy in tears.

“I’m scared
and I’m sad.
I wish Bunny
were here!”

Mama Pig wrapped
Piggy up in a hug.

“I’m so glad
you told me.

It’ll be okay, bug.”

Mama Pig said that
other kids feel this way,
too.

What if Bunny was sad?
Piggy knew what to do!

Piggy picked out an outfit
and made up a dance.

She jumped
and she twirled
and she spun
and she pranced!

When Piggy was ready
Mama Pig dialed Bunny.

"I made you
a dance!"

squealed Piggy.

"That's funny..."

“Cause I wrote
you a story!”

Bunny
squealed
back.

They had each prepared gifts
for their video chat!

Now Piggy performs
a routine every week.

Bunny reads as
her brothers
all play
hide-and-seeK.

Bunny's Gramsy
sings songs

and her aunt plays guitar.

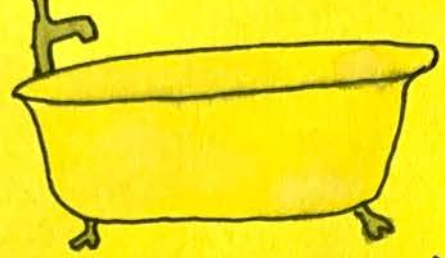

Piggy's mama
makes all sorts of
crafts
from a jar!

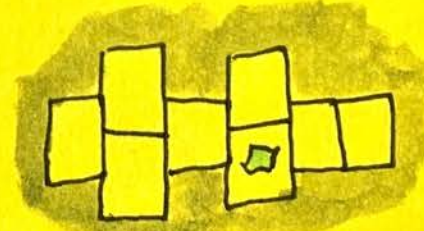

Now you and I
are stuck at home, too.

When you need some cheer
what do you like to do??
